INTERNATIONAL SOCIAL SCIENCE JOURNAL

Vol. XLII, 1990
Nos. 123–126

SUBJECT AND AUTHOR INDEX

Subjects

Africa, family trends and demographic transition 475–492
African energy problems, ecological crisis of the West 225–240
Agricultural modernization, and peasant strategies in Latin America 135–152
Algeria, acculturation, value conflicts and the family life, in 539–545
American cities, the grid plan and the Protestant Ethic 269–286
American and German federal executives, technocratic and political attitudes of 3–18
Bangladesh, social role of the economist in 69–76
Bio-engineering, the role of parents and 451–463
Bio-technological developments, the law and 465–473
Body, of the World 395–400
Brazil
agrarian question, one hundred years of, 153–168
bureaucrats and politicians in current politics of 19–30
family change and public policy demand 523–537
Business, and finance services in New York City 287–306
Cairo, and New York, street life of 307–318
Cereal production, producer strategies in major exporting countries in face of collapsing world prices 169–180
China, family research in 493–509
Cities
American, the grid plan and the Protestant Ethic 355–366
Latin-American, a tale of 337–354
social structure of Soviet 367–378
Communication, reconceptualizing the democratization of international 77–92
Concepts, from theories to, and from words to facts 241–252
Data archive, infrastructure for the social sciences 93–112
Debureaucratization, the Turkish state and 605–615
Democratization, of international communication 77–92
Ecological crisis, of the West and African energy problems 225–240
Economists, social role in Bangladesh 69–76
Education and bio-technologies, changing duties of parents and 451–463
Energy problems, of Africa and the ecological crisis in the West 225–240

INTERNATIONAL SOCIAL SCIENCE JOURNAL

Vol. XLII, 1990
Nos. 123–126

SUBJECT AND AUTHOR INDEX

Subjects

Africa, family trends and demographic transition 475–492
African energy problems, ecological crisis of the West 225–240
Agricultural modernization, and peasant strategies in Latin America 135–152
Algeria, acculturation, value conflicts and the family life, in 539–545
American cities, the grid plan and the Protestant Ethic 269–286
American and German federal executives, technocratic and political attitudes of 3–18
Bangladesh, social role of the economist in 69–76
Bio-engineering, the role of parents and 451–463
Bio-technological developments, the law and 465–473
Body, of the World 395–400
Brazil
agrarian question, one hundred years of, 153–168
bureaucrats and politicians in current politics of 19–30
family change and public policy demand 523–537
Business, and finance services in New York City 287–306
Cairo, and New York, street life of 307–318
Cereal production, producer strategies in major exporting countries in face of collapsing world prices 169–180
China, family research in 493–509
Cities
American, the grid plan and the Protestant Ethic 355–366
Latin-American, a tale of 337–354
social structure of Soviet 367–378
Communication, reconceptualizing the democratization of international 77–92
Concepts, from theories to, and from words to facts 241–252
Data archive, infrastructure for the social sciences 93–112
Debureaucratization, the Turkish state and 605–615
Democratization, of international communication 77–92
Ecological crisis, of the West and African energy problems 225–240
Economists, social role in Bangladesh 69–76
Education and bio-technologies, changing duties of parents and 451–463
Energy problems, of Africa and the ecological crisis in the West 225–240

Families, the demands for public policy of Brazilian 523–537 Family
demographic changes in contemporary Japan 511–522 future of, a Unesco project 547–552 life in Algeria, acculturation, value conflicts and the place of the sacred in 539–545 modelling of the interrelation of macro-society with 441–449 research in China 493–509
trends and demographic transition in Africa 475–492
Federal executives, German and American, technocratic and political attitudes of 3–18
Finance, and business services in New York City 287–306
German and American federal executives, technocratic and political attitudes of 3–18
Grid plan, and Protestant Ethic in American cities 269–286
India
peasant strategies, market integration and state policies in the North-East part of 181–192 role of bureaucracy in policy development in 31–48
Vidyadhar Nagar, planning for a community 395–400
Interdisciplinarity, Tower of Babel 577–592
Japan, demographic family changes in 511–522
Justice
On John Rawls, pure procedural theory of 553–564 theories of, empirical application, on John Rawls 565–576 Latin America
agricultural modernization and peasant strategies 135–152
a tale of cities 337–354
Law, and bio-technological developments 465–473
Nation-state, the pen, the sword and 59–68
New York City and Cairo, street life of 307–318 finance and business service of 287–306
Nigeria
organization of urban communities in 355–366 profile of higher public servant in government of 49–58
Peasant
agricultural modernization in Latin America and strategies of 135–152 to citizen, technological change and social transformation in developing countries 125–134 problem of developing the independent initiative in Russia 193–208 tribal strategy, market integration and state policies in North-East India 181–192
Policy development, implementation, the role of Indian bureaucracy in 31–48
Protestant Ethic, American cities and the grid plan 269–286
Rawls John
pure procedural, theory of justice 553–564 empirical application of justice theories 565–576
Russia, development of independent peasant initiative 193–208
Scholarly reputation and obsolescence, in the social sciences 417–428
'Social question', to 'urban problems', reformers and the working classes at the turn of the twentieth century 319–336
Social science, elements of a creative, a vision of opportunities 577–592

Social sciencies, scholarly reputation and obsolescence in the, innovation as a team sport 417–428 data archive, infrastructure for the 93–112
Soviet cities, social structure of 367–378
State
agrarian relations in Sudan and Turkey, and the 209–224 and debureaucratization, the case of Turkey 605–615
Sudan, the, and Turkey, agrarian relations and the state 209–224
Technological change, social transformation, from peasant to citizen in developing countries 125–134
Technological development, national communities and 593–604
Theories, to concepts, words to facts 241–252
Tokyo, revitalization of waterfront of 379–386
Turkey, and the Sudan, agrarian relations and the state 209–224
Turkish state and debureaucratization 605–615
Unesco, an international inquiry into the future of the family 547–552
'Urban reform', social problem, and the working class at the turn of the twentieth century 319–336
Vidyadhar Nagar, planning for a community 395–400
Working class, 'social question', 'urban problem', at the turn of the twentieth century 319–336

Authors

ABERBACH, Joel D., DERLIEN, Hans-Ulrich, MAYNTZ, Renate, and ROCKMAN, Bert A. American and German federal executives–technocratic and political attitudes 3–18
ABU-LUGHOD, Janet. New York and Cairo: a view from street level 307–318
ARICANLI, Tosun. Agrarian relations and the state in the Sudan and Turkey 209–224
BAYER, Richard C. On John Rawls. Empirical application of justice theories: a test case 565–576 BECK-GERNSHEIM, Elisabeth. The changing duties of parents–from education to bio-engineering? 451–463
BEHNAM, Djamshid. An international inquiry into the future of the family–a Unesco project 547–552
CHARVET, Jean-Paul. Cereal producer strategies in the major exporting countries in the face of collapsing world prices 169–180
CHONCHOL, Jacques. Agricultural modernization and peasant strategies in Latin America 135–152
CSEH-SZOMBATHY, Làszlò. Modelling the interrelation between macro-society and the family 441–449
DERLIEN, Hans-Ulrich, ABERBACH, Joel D., MAYNTZ, Renate, ROCKMAN, Bert A. American and German federal executives–technocratic and political attitudes 3–18 DOGAN, Mattei and PAHRE, Robert. Scholarly reputation and obsolescence in the social sciences: innovation as a team sport 417–428

Doshi, Balkrishna V. Planning for a community: Vidyadhar Nagar 395–400
Douglas, Mary. The Body of the World 395–400
Goldani, Ana Maria. Changing Brazilian families and the consequent need for public policy 523–537
Grolier, Eric de. From theories to concepts and from facts to words 241–252
Heper, Metin. The state and debureaucratization–the case of Turkey 605–615
Jain, Randhir B. The role of bureaucracy in policy development and implementation in India 31–48
Jinnai, Hidenobu. Can the Tokyo waterfront be revitalized? 379–386
Keren, Michael. The pen, the sword and the nation-state 59–68
Lauras-Lecoh, Thérèse. Family trends and demographic transition in Africa 475–492
Lengyel, Peter. Elements of creative social science. Part II: a vision of opportunities 401–416
Malbogunje, Atkin L. The organization of urban communities in Nigeria 355–366
Mayntz, Renate, Aberbach, Joel D., Derlien, Hans-Ulrich, Rockman, Bert A. American and German federal executives–technocratic and political attitudes 3–18
Mishra, S. N. Tribal peasant strategy, market integration and state policies in North-East India 181–192
Morioka, Kiyomi. Demographic family changes in contemporary Japan 511–522
Niang, Cheikh Ibrahima. From ecological crisis in the West to the energy problem in Africa 225–240
Ola, Robert F. A profile of the higher public servant in the Nigerian government 49–58
Pahre, Robert and Dogan, Mattei. Scholarly reputation and obsolescence in the social sciences: innovation as a team sport 417–428
Reis, Elisa P. Bureaucrats and politicians in current Brazilian politics 19–30 Reis, Elisa P. Brazil–one hundred years of the agrarian question 153–168
Ricoeur, Paul. On John Rawls. Is a pure procedural theory of justice possible? 553–564
Riggs, Fred W. Interdisciplinary Tower of Babel 577–592
Rockman, Bert A., Aberbach, Joel D., Derlien, Hans-Ulrich, Mayntz, Renate. American and German federal executives–technocratic and political attitudes 3–18
Sassen, Saskia. Finance and business service in New York City–international linkages and domestic effects 287–306
Scheuch, Erwin K. From a data archive to an infrastructure for the social sciences 93–112
Schneier, Graciela. Latin America–a tale of cities 337–354
Sennett, Richard. American cities: the grid plan and the Protestant Ethic 269–286

SHAPOSHNIKOV, A. N. The problem of developing independent peasant initiative in Russia 193–208
SHKARATAN, Ovsey I. The social structure of Soviet cities 367–378
SINGH, Kishore. Technology development–a holistic perspective involving different national communities 593–604
SOBHAN, Rehman. The social role of the economist in Bangladesh 69–76
SORJ, Bernardo and WILKINSON, John. From peasant to citizen: technological change and social transformation in developing countries 125–134
SVERNE, Tor. Bio-technological developments and the law 465–473
TOPALOV, Christian. From the 'social question' to 'urban problems': reformers and the working classes at the turn of the twentieth century 319–336
TOUALBI, Noureddine. Acculturation, value conflicts and the place of the sacred in family life in Algeria 539–545
WATERMAN, Peter. Reconceptualizing the democratization of international communication 77–92
WILKINSON, John and SORJ, Bernardo. From peasant to citizen: technological change and social transformation in developing countries 125–134
ZHANGLING, Wei. The family and family research in contemporary China 493–509